let at Home on Feb. 16

LIVED NINE DAYS

Funeral Services will Be
In Pennsylvania

Mrs. Anna Gibbs, aged 42, wife of Charles Gibbs, manager of the G. C. Murphy store, E. Main-st., succumbed at Berger hospital on Thursday at 5:06 a. m. of injuries she suffered when she was accidentally shot in the right side at her home on S. Court-st on the night of Feb. 16. Mrs. Gibbs had returned here from her home in Lancaster, Pa., early Monday morning and it was Monday evening at 8 o'clock when she was unpacking a traveling bag that a revolver in the bag exploded, a bullet striking her in the side.

The bullet passed into her body and against the spinal column where it deflected downward. She underwent an operation to treat her injuries but because of the precarious position of the bullet no effort was made to remove it.

LIVED ONE WEEK

When taken to the hospital it was evident that Mrs. Gibbs could not survive her injuries. The fact that she continued to hold her own day after day first an entire week then more than two days after that, astounded local physicians and hospital attendants. Her condition was critical from the time she was taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Gibbs had been a resident of this city since July, 1930 when her husband came here to manage the G. C. Murphy store. She had been in Lancaster, Pa., for the three weeks previous to her fatal injury where she saw her only son, George W., graduate from the high school in that city. She had returned with her son on the Monday morning before she was shot.

REFERENDUM CONTROVERSY HITS BLOCK

Federal Relations Committee Puts Off Action Until Next Tuesday Night.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 26.—The prohibition issue in Ohio's legislature was up against another stumbling block today in the house of representatives federal relations committee, which has delayed action until next Tuesday night on the Corlett resolution, proposing that Congress arrange for a national constitutional convention to consider proposed amendments to the federal constitution, including possible elimination of the dry amendment.

When brought out for open discussion at the committee meeting last night, the much-wrangled prohibition question found itself in another muddle of heated controversy that finally resulted in the committee putting off consideration of the proposal.

"If the 18th amendment is repealed, the political situation would be just the same as now," declared Rep. William L. Guard (R) of Urbana. "The dries would immediately be on the move to get it back in the constitution. The same questions would be continued to be asked of candidates—'Are you wet or dry?'"

Allen H. Corlett (R) of Cleveland, author of the resolution, which is similar to the Marshall resolution now pending in the senate, attributed the present political and economic unrest largely to prohibition.

Referring to the fact that the question: "Are you wet or dry?" is constantly being injected into political and legislative contests, Corlett urged that the people be accorded the opportunity of eliminating this "bugaboo" by electing delegates to a national convention.

"I know of no other amendment which has caused unrest like the 18th amendment," declared Rep. Joseph H. Seibert (R) of Cleveland. "Let's take this political football out to the people. I want to see what the whole country will do with it as well as what the state of Ohio will do about it."

"Viewing the situation since 1918, I can't say prohibition is 1918, I can't say any prohibition," asserted Rep. Lawrence A. Kane (R), of Cincinnati.

Declaration that there are at least 10,000 speakasies in Cleveland now compared with "only a few hundred saloons" before prohibition became effective in Ohio, was made by Rep. James C. Foster (R), of Cleveland.

OHIO TRUSTEES ARE ALARMED

Convinced That Hidden Plot is found in Bill For County-
Rural Rule.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 26.—Alarmed and angry, township trustees of Ohio today took the defensive against what they are convinced is a veiled but deliberate attempt to abolish their offices.

Charging that a "hidden plot" is laid against them in the Greenlund county-rural municipality plan now before the state senate, their president, Joseph Thomas of Hayesville, announced last night that they will fight the proposal with all the strength they can muster.

Snatching their ears to the demands of Senator William A. Greenlund (D) of Cleveland, author of the resolution, they prepared to mobilize an army of opposition that will include four trustees in every township in the state, all township clerks, and hundreds of friends of each.

Vague charges that the Ohio State Grange and the Ohio Farm Bureau failed to safeguard their interests when the resolution was drafted were flung into a senate committee hearing on the proposal last night.

"We submitted this resolution to 14 judges and they were unanimously convinced that it will abolish the office of township trustees," Hayes declared.

"The townships were badly represented when this was drawn up," Robert Roehm, Cleveland, city solicitor for five suburban municipalities, asserted.

"They weren't represented at all," Hayes replied.

Walter F. Kirk, Port Clinton, master of the Ohio Grange and C. A. Dyer, Columbus, legislative agent for the farm bureau, spoke for the rural interests when the resolution was prepared. Both are lined up in favor of the plan.

Opposition to the Greenlund resolution came principally from employees of outlying municipalities in Cuyahoga-co who said Cleveland can push its tax burden on suburbs if it is passed.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 26.—An emergency appropriation of $80,000 to be used for the employment of extra labor in state health, agriculture, forestry and public work departments will be asked of the state legislature Governor White's emergency relief cabinet announced today.

The decision follows after three weeks the approval and passage of the Lowery emergency appropriation bill providing the state department of education with $50,000 to supply shoes, food and clothing for needy school children in drought and unemployment areas.

Emergency jobs created under the new relief program would include work and money as follows: reforestation of 1,000 acres of state lands located in state forests in Scioto, Ross, Vinton, Lawrence, Adams and Washington counties, $15,000; repairs on sixteen Ohio national guard armories in southern and south Eastern Ohio, $15,000; drilling of sixty feet "safety wells" in southern Ohio, $10,000.

If the emergency appropriation is passed it will enable the relief cabinet to supplement emergency highway jobs already being supplied 25 men in each of 25 separate counties.

Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson, Welfare Director John McSweeney and other members of the cabinet will personally appeal to legislators to pass the appropriation it was said.

Native Here Retires After Lengthy Railroad Service

On Nov. 1, 1887 he took employment with the C. & M. V., now the Zanesville division of the Panhandle and was clerk and operator in this city. OHIO TRUSTEES ARE ALARMED

Convinced That Hidden Plot is found in Bill For County-
Rural Rule.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 26.—Alarmed and angry, township trustees of Ohio today took the defensive against what they are convinced is a veiled but deliberate attempt to abolish their offices.

Charging that a "hidden plot" is laid against them in the Greenlund county-rural municipality plan now before the state senate, their president, Joseph Thomas of Haysville, announced last night that they will fight the proposal with all the strength they can muster.

Shutting their ears to the demands of Senator William A. Greenlund (D) of Cleveland, author of the resolution, they prepared to mobilize an army of opposition that will include four trustees in every township in the state, all township clerks, and hundreds of friends of each.

Vague charges that the Ohio State Grange and the Ohio Farm Bureau failed to safeguard their interests when the resolution was drafted were flung into a senate committee hearing on the proposal last night.

"We submitted this resolution to 14 judges and they were unanimously convinced that it will abolish the office of township trustees," Hayes declared.

"The townships were badly represented when this was drawn up," Robert Roehm, Cleveland, city solicitor for five suburban municipalities, asserted.

"They weren't represented at all," Hayes replied.

Walter F. Kirk, Port Clinton, master of the Ohio Grange and C. A. Dyer, Columbus, legislative agent for the farm bureau, spoke for the rural interests when the resolution was prepared. Both are lined up in favor of the plan.

Opposition to the Greenlund resolution came principally from employees of outlying municipalities in Cuyahoga-co who said Cleveland can push its tax burden on suburbs if it is passed.

NAVAL TREATY MAY BECOME 5 POWER AFFAIR

Final Stage in Effort to Enlarge Pact Launched
by British Today

MEET MUSSOLINI

Diplomat Non-committal
On Result of Negotiations

ROME, Feb. 26.—The final stage in their effort to enlarge the London naval treaty into a five-power affair was launched by British Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson and First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander here today.

The two British cabinet officers, who already have won from France an agreement that will make her entry into the pact possible, conferred for several hours this morning with Italian statesmen in an effort to obtain their approval of the Anglo-French compromise.

The conference was held at the Chigi palace. Henderson and Alexander, accompanied by R. L. Craigie of the Foreign office, left the conference room shortly before noon.

While the diplomats remained non-committal as to the progress of the negotiations, a semi-official statement outlined the course taken at the initial meeting.

STUDY PROBLEMS

Alexander and Admiral Giuseppe Sirtani, Minister of the Navy, spent the morning examining technical problems, it is said. Henderson and Italian Foreign Minister Dino Grandi began the first exchange of ideas upon "unsettled questions" concerned in the negotiations.

Henderson and Alexander were to visit Premier Mussolini at 4 p. m., resuming the conversations at the Chigi palace immediately afterward.

ROME, Feb. 26.—Following an hour's conference with Foreign Minister Dino Grandi and Italian naval experts, the British Ministers, Arthur Henderson and A. V. Alexander left Chigi palace shortly after noon today.

They were accompanied by R. L. Craigie, British naval expert. Adhering to the strict secrecy which has surrounded discussions in connection with the attempts to settle the Franco-Italian naval controversy, the British and Italian diplomats remained non-committal on the progress of the first Rome conference.

GIANT LIQUOR RING SMASHED

1,000 Doctors, 500 Druggists and $5,000,000 Worth of Business Involved.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Raids in an effort to drive out of business a liquor diversion syndicate claimed to involve 1,000 doctors, 500 druggists and annual profits of more than $5,000,000 will go on until the ring is broken up, department of justice officials said today.

One hundred picked men of the department, acting under orders of Washington, launched the drive yesterday, arresting 33 persons. Fifteen drug stores were also raided and 47 doctors named in a complaint charging connivance with the liquor rings.

Among those arrested was Morris Sweetwood, former lieutenant of "Mannie" Kessler, once called the "king of bootleggers" and against whom the government obtained a $7,500,000 income tax judgment.

More than 1,500 prescription blanks of physicians were seized.

Five months of undercover work by department of justice agents was claimed to have brought forth evidence that the doctors and druggists worked with the ring to illegally divert alcohol and liquor.

Society Beauty Ends Life Over Love Pact

Mrs. Henrietta O'Kelly loved a man. The man was Dr. Lee D. Forest, radio genius. Love soured, so she sued the doctor. The suit hadn't come up yet, so the well-known society divorcee took an overdose of poisonous drugs, endured terrible agony for six hours and died in New York City.

FUNDS NEEDED TO REPLACE FEW ABANDONED ROAD LEVIES

Because of the Constitutional Amendment approved by the people in November 1929, which placed all levies on real estate within a maximum of 15 mills, it will be necessary for the people of the state to encourage, and the members of the General Assembly in particular to devise, new taxation measures in order to provide necessary funds to make up for the loss in the local taxing units of the state. For a number of years many of the counties of the state have been raising highway funds and above the 15 mill limitation, namely, under Section 1222, which permits of a levy of 2 1/2 mill in excess of 15 mills, and an additional 2 mill levy by vote of the people under Sec. 6926-29.

Therefore, it is more important to plan ways by which necessary additional funds may be secured than to attempt to reapportion or redistribute funds now available. It is neither wise nor advisable to propose an increase in the gasoline tax. Both political parties have declared against an increase in the gasoline tax and Governor White, in his second message to the General Assembly, expressed his direct opposition to it. Several communities and groups have advocated redistribution of the gasoline tax, by which it is proposed to decrease the portion that goes to the state, and in connection with this point Governor White, in the same message, stated that the "present funds for the present state highway system must be retained."

It has been claimed by some that the highway department has ample funds with which to operate but a thorough investigation and knowledge of the needs show that the highway department not only does not have a surplus of funds for its activities but on the other hand, it will be necessary to find more funds for the state highway department to cooperate with municipalities in improving extensions of state roads thru them and for necessary widening of narrow pavements and to properly finance the bridge program which is known to be from 4 to 5 years behind and especially if the state highway system is increased, such as has been proposed by Governor White and others in the form of a secondary state system or as proposed in a bill pending in the General Assembly to add 1,000 miles per year for the next 4 years to the state highway system instead of 200 miles per year as provided in present law.

Amendment referred to above, all levies for highway purposes (and likewise levies for all other needs) which are in excess of 15 mills (total) must and will come off. At present, Section 1222, which is the old state aid section or the section under which counties levied to meet state aid before county and state cooperation was dropped and which section has been amended to permit of the use of the funds from such levy for county road purpose, will not be operative after this year. In other words, the Constitutional Amendment permitted the making of levies under that section until December 31, 1930. Accordingly, levies made under this section last year produce funds for use this year, but they cannot be made again. Under this levy there is at present approximately $9,000,000 raised for local highway purposes.

There are at present 38 counties that have levies by vote of the people made above the 15 mill limitation. By reason of the fact that such levies will be applicable to real estate duplicates only, it will rarely be possible for a county to renew such levy in the future. There is $7,000,000 raised in these 38 counties under this method, which will gradually come off as levy terms expire. This past fall when 7 counties voted on county road levies, but two of them carried, namely Medina and Cuyahoga counties.

On the other hand, the local real estate duplicates will be very greatly decreased by reason of the re-appraisal of property, which will mean that whatever levies may be made in the future will produce proportionately less money.

In view of these conditions, it is necessary to find additional funds somewhere, somehow for highway purposes. Any plan to redistribute the gasoline tax revenues would not provide additional funds.

It is the purpose of the Constitutional Amendment, as propounded by its advocates in the campaign for its adoption, to bring out hidden values and wealth which have not been contributing toward public revenue. The subject of automotive taxation was thoroughly studied by the Automotive Sub-Committee of the Governor's Taxation Committee. On this committee were representatives of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, Ohio State Grange, Ohio Chamber of Commerce, Ohio State Automobile Association, Ohio Contractors' Association, The Ohio Good Roads Federation, and other groups and it was unanimously agreed that inasmuch as motor vehicles are taxed as personal property, as well as for license tags, the principle of double taxation on automobiles should be abandoned whereby the present property tax on motor vehicles would be dropped and the motor tag license be retained. It was found that only about 52 per cent of the motor vehicles of the state are returned for taxation and that the returns from such tax is only about $4,500,000 or about one-third what such revenue should be if present law were fully complied with. It was further agreed that by reason of the fact that levies on real estate in excess of 15 mills will come off, the loss from such levies should be made up from an increase in the motor vehicle tag license and the additional sum decided upon was $10,000,000. Even though the greater percentage of personal property values is located in urban communities, the loss to either rural or urban communities by reason of taking motor vehicles off the personal property duplicate would be minimal compared with the amount that would be available under a fair distribution of an increased motor license fund.

Eighteen girls are attending Ohio colleges this year on scholarships of the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs, according to Mrs. J. L. The fund was established in 1910 to aid them in becoming teachers, librarians, stenographers and social workers. The fund is aimed to aid the girls in making a living, and is seldom used for advanced college work. Mrs. Selby reports that the girls educated through the fund are holding good positions in many fields.

Conventional motor car design

To the motorist thinking of buying a new car now, the attention the entire industry is giving to Free Wheeling means a great deal. Pierce-Arrow and Lincoln, noted for engineering excellence and conservatism, have adopted—intact and unmodified—the same Free Wheeling mechanism that is built into Studebaker's three great Eights and brilliant new Six.

Free Wheeling has captured public interest as thoroughly as it has captured the hitherto wasted power of momentum.

Highway commissioners and safety directors throughout the country have driven Free Wheeling Studebakers and then voiced approval of Free Wheeling with positive gear control as a new measure of safety to driver and public.

In Free Wheeling, for the first time in the history of the automobile, Studebaker has released momentum and made it serve as an instrument of economy and power. Free Wheeling with positive gear control enables the engine to deliver five miles of travel on four miles of effort.

You will do well if you make sure that your new car is a Free Wheeling Studebaker. It will save you substantial amounts on gasoline, oil, tires and repairs.

The cars of today that do not offer Free Wheeling are cars of the old order even though they may be spoken of as new. Base your new car choice on first-hand knowledge—ask your Studebaker dealer to take you Free Wheeling.

All Studebaker cars—the President, Commander and Dictator Eights, as well as the brilliant new low-priced Studebaker Six—have Free Wheeling with positive gear control. Studebaker cars are priced, f. o. b. factory, from $795 to $2600.

On the other hand, the local real estate duplicates will be very greatly decreased by reason of the re-appraisal of property, which will mean that whatever levies may be made in the future will produce proportionately less money.

In view of these conditions, it is necessary to find additional funds somewhere, somehow for highway purposes. Any plan to redistribute the gasoline tax revenues would not provide additional funds.

It is the purpose of the Constitutional Amendment, as propounded by its advocates in the campaign for its adoption, to bring out hidden values and wealth which have not been contributing toward public revenue. The subject of automotive taxation was thoroughly studied by the Automotive Sub-Committee of the Governor's Taxation Committee. On this committee were representatives of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, Ohio State Grange, Ohio Chamber of Commerce, Ohio State Automobile Association, Ohio Contractors' Association, The Ohio Good Roads Federation, and other groups and it was unanimously agreed that inasmuch as motor vehicles are taxed as personal property, as well as for license tags, the principle of double taxation on automobiles should be abandoned whereby the present property tax on motor vehicles would be dropped and the motor tag license retained. It was found that only about 52 per cent of the motor vehicles of the state are returned for taxation and that the returns from such tax is only about $4,500,000 or about one-third what such revenue should be if present law were fully complied with. It was further agreed that by reason of the fact that levies on real estate in excess of 15 mills will come off, the loss from such levies should be made up from an increase in the motor vehicle tag license and the additional sum decided upon was $10,000,000. Even though the greater percentage of personal property values is located in urban communities, the loss to either rural or urban communities by reason of taking motor vehicles off the personal property duplicate would be minimal compared with the amount that would be available under a fair distribution of an increased motor license fund.

MUSIC, BOOKS TO BE TALK'S THEME

Music and books are to be the themes of Ohio club women during the two weekly radio programs sponsored by the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs. Mrs. H. K. Mouser, Marion, chairman of the division of music, will play modern French piano music over Station WGAR, Cleveland (1450 Ky) Friday, Feb. 27 at 2:15 p. m. Maile Riggs Younce of Newark will present vocal numbers on this program. Mrs. Randolph Matthews, Oxford, chairman of literature and drama in the south west district, is to speak on "Why we Read—What we Read." Tuesday, March 3 at 4:40 p. m. over WLW, Cincinnati. Similar talks by club women are broadcast each week at the same hours, over these stations.

Eighteen girls are attending Ohio colleges this year on scholarships of the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs, according to Mrs. J. L. Selby, Greenville, chairman of the trustees of the Annette Phelps Lincoln Loan scholarship fund. The fund was established in 1910 to aid them in becoming teachers, librarians, stenographers and social workers. The fund is aimed to aid the girls in making a living, and is seldom used for advanced college work. Mrs. Selby reports that the girls educated through the fund are holding good positions in many fields.

The great eclipse of 1931

To the motorist thinking of buying a new car now, the attention the entire industry is giving to Free Wheeling means a great deal. Pierce Arrow and Lincoln, noted for engineering excellence and conservatism, have adopted—intact and unmodified—the same Free Wheeling mechanism that is built into Studebaker's three great Eights and brilliant new Six.

Free Wheeling has captured public interest as thoroughly as it has captured the hitherto wasted power of momentum.

Highway commissioners and safety directors throughout the country have driven Free Wheeling Studebakers and then voiced approval of Free Wheeling with positive gear control as a new measure of safety to driver and public.

In Free Wheeling, for the first time in the history of the automobile, Studebaker has released momentum and made it serve as an instrument of economy and power. Free Wheeling with positive gear control enables the engine to deliver five miles of travel on four miles of effort.

You will do well if you make sure that your new car is a Free Wheeling Studebaker. It will save you substantial amounts on gasoline, oil, tires and repairs.

The cars of today that do not offer Free Wheeling are cars of the old order even though they may be spoken of as new. Base your new car choice on first-hand knowledge—ask your Studebaker dealer to take you Free Wheeling.

All Studebaker cars—the President, Commander and Dictator Eights, as well as the brilliant new low-priced Studebaker Six—have Free Wheeling with positive gear control. Studebaker cars are priced, f. o. b. factory, from $795 to $2600.

SMALL IS LIKELIHOOD OF LAWS CHANGING HIGHWAY METHODS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 26.—With state legislatures well under way in their local deliberations there now appears to be small likelihood of wasteful changes in highway laws, particularly in the matter of diverting state funds to local roads with little or no supervision by state highway department.

"In this connection," according to a bulletin issued by the American Association of State Highway Officials, "it is worthy of note that at the recent annual meeting of the American Road Builders' Association, held in St. Louis, the new principles of highway administration and finance, as adopted by the American Association of State Highway Officials, were approved by the road builders' association. By a very clear and specific resolution, state legislatures were requested to in no way decrease state funds, remove from state authority present incomes, or adversely change the sources of revenue for state road building simply because the Federal government has increased its fund for that purpose.

"The present state revenues for highways, the resolution concluded, are all needed to permit the fullest cooperation with the Federal government in this great task. These new principles require that all road financing and improvement shall be carried on under a preconceived plan and budget, involving the interests of all classes of highways.

"Also by resolution, the American Road Builders' Association has commended the platform announced by state highway officials as a guide in perfecting state legislation covering all phases of highway administration and finance. It was declared also that motor funds should be used for road purposes only.

"Those who urge the use of state highway funds on local roads that are now beyond the reach of state counsel and technical supervision," the bulletin proceeded, "have evidently forgotten the fact that state constitutions, or at least many of them, once prohibited the issuance of bonds for use in the improvement of so perishable a thing as an earth road, and there is no disputing the fact that until the local road is reached in accordance with the present policy of building main routes first, it must develop more or less along impermanent or preliminary lines, hence the need for extreme caution in the use of state funds to avoid waste.

"With all forces in road development working in harmony, and with the added financial support which the Federal government has given, the road construction season of 1931 promises to achieve greater results than in any previous year.

"And not the least of all," the bulletin concludes, will be the part which the road building will play in providing more employment for labor, in addition to economic transportation for the farmer."

AGAIN PLAN RADIO TESTS

Atwater Kent Foundation Offers Awards of $25,000 to Amateur Singers.

A fifth national radio audition, offering cash awards of $25,000 to the young amateur singers of the United States, was announced today by the Atwater Kent Foundation of Philadelphia. Radio listeners and a board of judges will jointly select the candidates for these awards.

"I believe we are building for the future in searching out talented young singers for that great medium of culture and entertainment—Radio," said A. Atwater Kent, president of the Foundation, bearing his name, in making the announcement of the 1931 audition. "The discovery of one of those rare voices, of which each generation produces a few, seems to me an event of profound national importance. Even when such a voice could give pleasure to only a few thousand people it was a national treasure. Now that millions may enjoy it through the medium of radio, such a voice becomes priceless.

"So, just as a good voice is a divine gift, radio offers opportunity to share that gift with the greatest number. In previous auditions our records show contestants have come back the second, third and even a fourth time after losing out in a first attempt. This should be encouraging to all who have taken part in earlier contests."

Accepted by ambitious singers as well as music workers throughout the country as the outstanding American vocal contest, the audition in this, its fifth year, will follow substantially the lines of the previous competitions, which have been held annually since 1927. It is open to amateurs—young men and young women alike—between the ages of 18 and 25.

The awards will be: Winners of first place (one boy and one girl), $5,000 each and two years' tuition in an American conservatory, or its equivalent.

Winners of second place, $3,000 each and one year's tuition.

Winners of third place, $2,000 each and one year's tuition.

Winners of fourth place, $1,500 each and one year's tuition.

Winners of fifth place, $1,000

INCREASED MOTOR TRUCK FEE BILL TO BE RUSHED BY POLEN

COLUMBUS, O.—Intention of seeking an early hearing before the house taxation committee on his bill, providing for increased fees from operators of motor trucks, was announced today by Rep. Robert Polen (D) of Chillicothe.

This measure, which was introduced February 17, the final day for the introduction of bills, was given second reading and referred to committee Monday night. Polen said he will try to induce the committee to take up consideration of the bill within a week.

Requirement that on trucks weighing more than five tons each, and operating over a regular route, an annual tax of $300 shall be collected by the state is contained in the bill. The measure, also provides for annual tax of $200 on trucks weighing between 3 1-2 tons and 5 tons which are operated over irregular routes, and for a tax of $300 a year on trucks weighing more than 5 tons, operated over irregular routes.

The present law places a $200 annual tax on trucks, weighing in excess of 3 1-2 tons, operating over regular routes. And fixes the yearly tax on trucks, weighing more than 3 1-2 tons, operating over irregular routes, at $150.

A yearly tax of $100 is levied, in the Polen bill, upon each trailer used by a motor transportation company. The present law decrees that the tax to be paid on each such trailer shall equal 20 per cent of that levied upon the vehicle by which it is drawn.

"I introduced this bill because I feel that, in view of the increased business done by trucking concerns in recent years and because of the heavy damage done to the highways over which these heavy

Conducted on the principle of elimination, the fifth National Radio Audition, like its predecessors, will progress through local, state and geographical district stages to national finals. The district, or semi-final auditions, of which there will be five, representing as many geographical divisions into which the country as a whole will be divided, will each qualify one boy and one girl (ten in all) who will sing in grand finals in New York over a coast to coast network of radio stations.

National audition headquarters have been established in the Albee Building, Washington, D. C., and the work of organizing and carrying out the contest will be con-

CONDITION OF NAVY RAPPED

WASHINGTON. — Charging "the navy is being murdered by its own countrymen," Rep. Britten (R) of Illinois, chairman of the house committee on naval affairs, today said it was inadequate and undersized as compared with those of other world powers.

"I am deeply disappointed that the modest naval construction program of one flying-deck cruiser, one air-craft carrier and four submarines will not become a law during this session of congress," Britten said.

He asserted this government appeared "too niggardly to maintain a navy that is commensurate with its position in the world" and that "congress is being dominated by Socialists and Bolsheviks, Communists and pacifists of butterfly ideals."

Britten said the United States would be the only country attending the 1935 naval limitations conference with a navy far below the London treaty requirements. "We will lag far behind like a pauper state apologizing for our second class navy," he said.

NO OHIO FEAR OF EPIDEMIC

COLUMBUS, O.—No fear of the influenza epidemic which has been sweeping parts of the country need be felt by Ohioans.

Reports of the state health department today shows that a total of only 609 cases existed in February, 396 of which were recorded in Cleveland. States where the disease has been prevalent have reported as many as 3500 cases a week.

Disease showing the greatest number of cases in Ohio during the week ending Feb. 21 were Chickenpox and Scarlet Fever with a record of 421 and 485 cases respectively.

Accusing the Utilities
ANALYSIS of the messages of the governors to the 43 state legislatures now in session dis-closes that the states are chiefly concerned with unemployment and drought relief, tax revision and regulation of public utilities.
Whatever the reason, it is significant that 30 governors devoted a considerable portion of their messages to the subject of state ownership or control of the utilities.
It is significant if for no other reason than that it indicates what 30 out of 45 governors think is the "popular" issue.

Some of those state executives have presidential ambitions so can be said to be "issue hunting."
Others made the utilities, especially the so-called "power trust," the issue of their gubernatorial campaign and are at least going through the motions of keeping campaign promises. But some are inspired by an honest conviction that utility rates are excessive within their states and further regulation is the interest of the people.

Where there is so much smoke there must be some fire. False issues can be fabricated by ingenuous politicians, but it is unusual for so many politicians to hitch their political wagons to the same star at the same time. Either this is a real issue or it is the only semblance of an issue a lot of unimaginative politicians could put their finger on at the moment.

Perhaps it is time for a show down. If the utilities can justifi-ably delay no longer in placing their cards on the table. It would be disastrous to the further development and expansion of the utilities, especially the power industry, to deprive them of their appeal to new capital, unless the taxpayers are willing to put their state and federal governments in business and provide the capital for rural electrification and other utility needs from taxation.

Many Owners
PROFESSIONAL critics who have fostered the idea that the railroads are owned by a few wealthy families or individuals stand refuted by the report of the house interstate commerce committee on railroad holding companies.
There was a time when railroads were largely family matters, but today of the 240,000 miles of railroads in the United States, only 30,000 miles are controlled by families or individuals. Of these 28-000 miles are in the hands of the Van Sweringen brothers, whose backers probably are legion.
Eight hundred and forty thousand investors own the 160 Class I railroads. Of their total voting stock only 5 percent is held by large banks and brokerage houses.
These figures end the stalking of the historic ghost of a railroad oligarchy.

Nor did the committee uncover any suspicious relationships calling for condemnation of interlocking directorates between railroads and insurance companies and large banks.

Little has the ultimate consumer to fear today from big business that colossus of the trust busting days. Mass ownership of large corporations has kept pace with mass production, and distribution of corporate dividends now compares favorably with distribution of the products of these corporations. Thousands of workers now share two ways in the earnings of the corporations to which they have the dual relationship of employee and stockholder.

Gold!
IN a little obscure valley high in the Canadian Rockies south west of Calgary, Alberta, there has sprung up over night a town from which each morning men go forth to dig about on the shore for that yellow earth men call gold and for which he is willing to pay almost any price.

These prospectors are suffering cruel hardships without complaint engaging in the most slavish form of labor, even risking their lives merely because last fall an old Indian found a lump of quartz in the mountains and showed it to two other prospectors. The prospectors and their informant stated out a claim and hundreds followed them into the mountains.

For months, the tedious "back-breaking, spirit-crushing, digging and washing has progressed without producing so much as a speck of gold dust but still they dig and hope. Blizzards, killing cold hun-

"FOREST LOVE" by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

Nancy Hollenbeck, young, beautiful and romantic, heads her mother's warning against marrying a poor man and gives up Mat Tully. She accepts the attentions of Jack Beamer who plans to divorce his rich wife and marry Nancy. On a mountain trip, Nancy marries Roger Decatur, a handsome stranger. At first she is happy in his mountain cabin, but when he leaves on a long trip, she flees to her home. Without informing her family of her marriage, she re-enters the old social life. Beamer is as ardent as ever, but Nancy repulses his embraces. Roger's letters arouse Mrs. Hollenbeck's suspicions. Nancy begs Roger to come to her. Though longing for her, he refuses to see her in a sneaking fashion.

CHAPTER XXXII.
DAYS passed. The mails were so slow. Up Gale's Flat way the roads were rivers of mud. The wind whistled round the cabin, the rain lashed the windows, pattered against the door.
By the light of the kitchen lamp Roger read Nancy's last letter. He had already read it four times, juggling home in the dusk.

The Letter.
Nancy's tears and the raindrops had almost reduced it to a pulp.
It was such a short letter, he already knew it by heart.
"Roger, I'm sorry. I've told you so many times. Why do you ask me again? I can't go back just now and I can't tell the family
yet. I'll explain when I see you.
You must come. I must talk to you. You could come for a weekend, and I would find some way to get away. If you love me you won't let that job of yours stand in the way. Roger, I'm begging you! I'm putting all my pride in my pocket. I can't get along without you. I love you so. I'll look for you Saturday. I'll meet you in the lobby of the St. Francis at half-past twelve."

"Your Nancy."
Aunt Ellie wanted the girls for Saturday afternoon. She was entertaining the Ladies' Auxiliary, and they were to help serve the refreshments. There would be crab salad and hot biscuits and rich chocolate cake and tall silver cups of chocolate and coffee. Quite expensive enough without paying for an extra maid for the afternoon. Beside, she rather enjoyed presenting pretty Nancy, the tall, ladylike Louise. "Ladies, my nieces."

"I'm sorry, but I can't go,"
Nancy said, decisively.
"But Nancy, you know how Aunt Ellie feels. I can't go."
"I don't know what I can say to Ellie," mama moaned. "I told her
I didn't want what you'd be doing, but I was sure."
"Well, I'm sorry, but you'll just have to tell her. I was that the telephone."

"I didn't hear anything. I declare I don't know what's got into you lately, Nancy. If you're not needing the telephone it's the doorbell. Are you expecting something?" Mama's words had been plain enough with Nancy's clat-tering up and down stairs to answer imaginary telephone calls, and dreamily waiting on the front porch for the postman, leaving the door open, a draught through the whole house, without this complication over Aunt Ellie.
"No, I'm not expecting anything." But even mama could see that her whole being was tuned to the telephone, waiting for its today.
"Then you're making mama very nervous for nothing!"
"I'm sure, dear, that any of your little plans should wait on Aunt Ellie. Remember, she has been ing feared for that pot of gold at the end of the prospector's rainbow.

Strangest of all, word comes out of the snow-covered Rockies that he but of quartz picked up by the Indian has never been assayed. But that is gold fever.
And if some of those men strike rich the world will talk of their easy money."

Accusing the Utilities

ANALYSIS of the messages of the governors to the 43 state legislatures now in session discloses that the states are chiefly concerned with unemployment and drought relief, tax revision and regulation of public utilities.

Whatever the reason, it is significant that 30 governors devoted a considerable portion of their messages to the subject of state ownership or control of the utilities. It is significant if for no other reason than that it indicates what 30 out of 48 governors think is the "popular" issue.

Some of those state executives have presidential ambitions so can be said to be "issue hunting." Others made the utilities, especially the so-called "power trust," the issue of their gubernatorial campaign and are at least going through the motions of keeping campaign promises. But some are inspired by an honest conviction that utility rates are excessive within their states and further regulation is the interest of the people.

Where there is so much smoke there must be some fire. False issues can be fabricated by ingenious politicians, but it is unusual for so many politicians to hitch their political wagons to the same star at the same time. Either this is a real issue or it is the only semblance of an issue a lot of unimaginative politicians could put their finger on at the moment.

Perhaps it is time for a show down. If the utilities can justify their rates and profits, let them delay no longer in placing their cards on the table. It would be disastrous to the further development and expansion of the utilities, especially the power industry, to deprive them of their appeal to new capital, unless the taxpayers are willing to put their state and federal governments in business and provide the capital for rural electrification and other utility needs from taxation.

Many Owners

PROFESSIONAL critics who have fostered the idea that the railroads are owned by a few wealthy families or individuals stand refuted by the report of the house interstate commerce committee on railroad holding companies.

There was a time when railroads were largely family matters, but today of the 240,000 miles of railroads in the United States, only 30,000 miles are controlled by families or individuals. Of these 28,000 miles are in the hands of the Van Sweringen brothers, whose backers probably are legion.

Eight hundred and forty thousand investors own the 160 Class 1 railroads. Of their total voting stock only 5 percent is held by large banks and brokerage houses. These figures end the stalking of the historic ghost of a railroad oligarchy.

Nor did the committee uncover any suspicious relationships calling for condemnation of interlocking directorates between railroads and insurance companies and large banks.

Little has the ultimate consumer to fear today from big business that colossus of the trust busting days. Mass ownership of large corporations has kept pace with mass production, and distribution of corporate dividends now compares favorably with distribution of the products of those corporations. Thousands of workers now share two ways in the earnings of the corporations to which they have the dual relationship of employee and stockholder.

Gold!

IN a little obscure valley high in the Canadian Rockies south west of Calgary, Alberta, there has sprung up over night a tent town from which each morning men go forth to dig about on the slope for that yellow earth man calls gold and for which he is willing to pay almost any price.

These prospectors are suffering cruel hardships without complaint, engaging in the most slavish form of labor, even risking their lives merely because last fall an old Indian found a lump of quartz in the mountains and showed it to two other prospectors. The prospectors and their informant staked out a claim and hundreds followed them into the mountains.

For months, the tedious, back-breaking, spirit-crushing digging and washing has progressed without producing so much as a speck of gold dust but still they dig and hope. Blizzards, killing cold, hun-

"FOREST LOVE" by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

Nancy Hollenbeck, young, beautiful and romantic, heeds her mother's warning against marrying a poor man and gives up Mat Tully. She accepts the attentions of Jack Beamer who plans to divorce his rich wife and marry Nancy. On a mountain trip, Nancy marries Roger Decatur, a handsome ranger. At first she is happy in his mountain cabin, but when he leaves on a long trip, she flees to her home. Without informing her family of her marriage, she re-enters the old social life. Beamer is as ardent as ever, but Nancy repulses his embraces. Roger's letters arouse Mrs. Hollenbeck's suspicions. Nancy begs Roger to come to her. Though longing for her, he refuses to see her in a sneaking fashion.

CHAPTER XXXII.

DAYS passed. The mails were so slow. Up Gale's Flat way the roads were rivers of mud. The wind whistled round the cabin, the rain lashed the windows, pattered against the door.

By the light of the kitchen lamp Roger read Nancy's last letter, he had already read it four times, joggling home in the dusk.

The Letter.

Nancy's tears and the raindrops had almost reduced it to a pulp. It was such a short letter, he already knew it by heart.

"Roger, darling, I've told you so many times. Why do you ask me again? I can't go back just now, and I can't tell the family yet. I'll explain when I see you. You must come for a week-end, and I would find some way to get away. If you love me you won't let that job of yours stand in the way. Roger, I'm begging you! I'm putting all my pride in my pocket. I can't go along without you. I love you so. I'll meet you for you Saturday. I'll meet you in the lobby of the St. Francis at half-past twelve."

"Your Nancy."

Aunt Ellie wanted the girls for Saturday afternoon. She was entertaining the Ladies' Auxiliary, and they were to help serve the refreshments. There would be crab salad and hot biscuits and rich chocolate cake and tall silver pots of chocolate and coffee. Quite expensive enough without paying for an extra maid for the afternoon. Besides, she rather enjoyed presenting pretty Nancy, the tall, ladylike Louise. "Ladies, my nieces."

"I'm sorry, but I can't go," Nancy said, decisively.

"But Nancy, you know how Aunt Ellie feels."

"I can't help it. I can't go."

"I don't know what I can say to Ellie," mama moaned. "I told her I didn't know what you'd be doing, but I was sure—"

"Well, I'm sorry, but you'll just have to tell her... was that the telephone?"

"I didn't hear anything. I declare I don't know what's got into you lately, Nancy. If you're not hearing the telephone it's the door bell. Are you expecting something?" Mama's wizened little face was all wrinkles. There had been trouble enough with Nancy's clattering up and down stairs to answer imaginary telephone calls, and dreamily waiting on the front porch for the postman, leaving the door open, a draught through the whole house, without this complication over Aunt Ellie.

"No, I'm not expecting anything." But even mama could see that her whole being was tuned to the telephone, waiting for its to ring.

"Then you're making mama very nervous for nothing?"

"A loud, rattling sigh from Nancy."

"I'm sure, dear, that any of your little plans should wait on Aunt Ellie. Remember, she has been Miss Fay Elliot, stenographer, in the office of the state department of health who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Frank Barnhill was very kind, and she is in a position to be much kinder. One never knows—"

Nancy burst into loud, hiccupping sobs. "Mama, if you don't stop I'll go crazy! I'm so nervous now I don't know what I'm doing! I can't go, I tell you, I can't—I can't, and that's all there is to it!"

So Louise had to go without her.

Nancy got to the hotel more than twenty minutes early. It was the first time she had ever had to wait for anyone. Usually it was she who was late.

Of course he wasn't there yet. He couldn't possibly be there. But she walked slowly through the lobby just to make sure, scanning each face eagerly, looking with a plunging heart for a blonde head, a thin, brown face—she didn't know him—suppose he wore civies and she didn't recognize him without the uniform—what a crazy idea!

She went into the dressing room to make sure she looked all right. The beige homespun was really Spring, but the day was quite warm; it wasn't bad for Autumn.

The new brown hat and brown suede pumps helped, so did mama's fur and Louise's birthday bag. She had charged the hat and shoes to papa. It seemed too bad to do it, with all his bills, but she couldn't quite bring herself to spend the crisp twenties Roger had sent, "in case you need anything." He was her husband, of course, but still—

A little more lipstick might help. She put it on, and then rubbed it off again. Her hair looked terrible. The one day I want to look nice, she mourned, and decided to wipe all the make-up off and begin all over again.

She did, but no sooner had she touched the powder puff than she thought of Roger all alone, walking up and down in the lobby, looking for her, worrying, perhaps. She stuffed everything back into her purse, pulled her hat over her eyes and fairly flew to the door.

He wasn't there. Maybe he was coming. Because her knees felt weak she sank into the nearest chair. I mustn't give way to my nerves like this, she thought angrily. I'm getting to be as bad as mama. But I'll be all right when he comes. Oh, Roger, dear, come soon!

Disappointment.

"I beg your pardon, have you the time?" she asked the nice looking woman in the next chair.

"Oh, THANK you!" she cried when the woman looked at her wrist watch and said "Twelve twenty-five."

Five minutes more. Five centuries. She got up again and walked around. Anything was better than sitting still.

At the flower stand near the elevators there was a case full of violets. Early this year. She stood looking at them hungrily.

"Violets?" the clerk asked, following her hypnotized gaze. He slid back the glass, stirred the purple bunches about.

Their fragrance came wafting up to her. The delicate scent of the blossoms, the good woody smell of the leaves.

"I'd like a bunch of the small double ones," she whispered, pointing to that he knew what she meant.

He pinned them on for her with a flourish, and she paid him mechanically. She no longer saw him or his flower stand. She was back in the woods with Roger. He was holding her in his strong brown arms, the falls were pounding, the spray rose in a white plume, splintered into diamonds, fell back to the wet green carpet of the grass, the little violets at their feet.

"Your change, madame," the salesman said distinctly.

"Oh!... thank you." She took it blushing, walked uncertainly back to the lobby.

The white house seems to be suffering from deflation of the veto.

Did Capone return to Chicago to vote or to decide the election some other way?

He wasn't there yet. He's delayed, she told herself, trying to push back the panic; it's perfectly natural. Nothing to be upset about.

All about her people were rising, greeting friends. People who had come long after she did were gone. It must be conspicuous, her waiting so long. Her cheeks began to burn. Perhaps he had called the house after she left. It was so funny, his not answering her letter at all. Maybe he hadn't gotten it in time—but that was impossible. She had plenty of time.

"Has anyone called me since I left?" she asked mama from a convenient telephone booth.

"Why, no?" mama's voice came crackling over the wire. "Has anything happened? Didn't you meet your friends? Where are you phoning from? Nancy, Hello, hello... Nancy!"

Nancy had hung up.

In a small voice she asked at the desk, "Is Mr. Roger Decatur registered here?"

She knew he wouldn't be. She went back to her chair. She no longer expected him. She just waited because she didn't know what else to do. She could not bear to admit that he wasn't coming.

Tea with Beamer.

She was still sitting there at four o'clock when a group of prosperous looking, youngish men came in. Pink faced, large of neck. Jovial. Inclined to plumpness. Clubmen of the sort who have stopped the more violent sports and have not yet started counting calories.

One, the youngest and slimmest of the group, saw her where she sat alone in her chair. With a casual apology he left the others and came over to her.

"Hello, Nancy! Waiting for me?"

She jumped and colored violently. "Why Jack Beamer! What are you doing here?"

He grinned, and, still smiling, looked her over from head to toe. No need to speak his admiration. It shone from his shrewd gray eyes, glowed in every line of his handsome ruddy face.

"I forgot why I came, but I know why I'm here now!"

She started to rise and her knees knocked together. She wanted to take Jack's big, warm hand, to lay her aching head on his broad shoulder and sob out all the hurt and disappointment. He seemed so sympathetic, so large and alive and helpful.

"Why, baby, what's the matter?"

She looked at him with bewildered eyes, soft and gentle as a doe's. "I don't know... I think I'm hungry. I haven't had any lunch. Buy me some tea?"

She tried to smile, but her lip twitched. She bit it to keep it from trembling.

"You're dars right I'll buy you some tea. Champagne. Whiskey. Cognac. Anything!" Jack Beamer smiled down into Nancy's woo-be-gone face. "Come on, baby."

He led the way toward the dining room, big, blustering, good-natured Jack. Feeling like a lost kitten whom someone had rescued, Nancy followed.

"Mr. Beamer!" The head waiter bowed. "And how are you today?"

Al... let me see? He considered the choicest table. "Henri, show Mr. Beamer."

Henri was more than unctuous. He adjusted Nancy's chair; he wanted to take her coat; he rubbed her hands.

Another waiter brought ice and butter with the air of one who treads on holy ground.

"Orange pekoe and toasted muffins as usual, sir? And marmalade?"

And the little waiter's "Peut-être? Yes, sir... yes, sir."

WOMAN VICTIM OF MAN FIEND

TAPPAHANNOCK, Va. — Mrs. Vance Smith who came here from Charlotte, N. C., to forget her marital troubles and won the respect of the townfolks, met a most horrible death at the hands of a fiend and opened to investigation the part life she had so zealously guarded.

Public inquiry was necessary as the killer left nothing on the body, he thought that would lead to its identification. It was nude when he dragged it, face downward, 40 yards into some undergrowth of the Washington-Richmond highway near Bowling Green, Wednesday night.

The vital organs in the stomach were removed, the eyes gouged out and some bridge work in the mouth pulled out. All these the killer has concealed somewhere, perhaps burned them or thrown them into some river near the spot he selected to commit his butchery.

Vultures were hovering near the woods Saturday when a negro, hunting for his dog, found the body. But the authorities do not believe the huge birds had started to dissect the corpse.

Stripped of every particle of clothing, jewelry or identification mark the body was left to be devoured by the birds with a tell-tale mark the fiend overlooked.

There was a burn on the leg and a distinct bruise on the knee. Younger Lumpkin saw the marks and identified the corpse as that of Miss Cleo Freeman who had been living in the rooming house here in which he lives. He remembered the girl suffered the injury when she fell against a stove a short time ago.

Lumpkin decided to view the body when Miss Freeman had failed to return from a motor ride with a man Wednesday.

Her murder has aroused the countryfolk. They said she led a quiet and respectable life and had confided to one of them that she was separated from her husband in Charlotte. Rumors were also current that she has four children who were living with their father.

Several men in the neighborhood were friendly with Mrs. Smith but last week a stranger visited her and she identified him as a man she knew before her marriage. He engaged another room and spent one night at the house. During his stay, occupants of the house said, the two talked little but continued their conversation by writing notes. This was the man who took her off in his automobile and off on her terrible death.

The authorities attempted to learn today what secret Mrs. Smith held, or what act she committed which would have prompted her caller to kill her and obliterate her features against any possible chance of identification.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor of the Herald:

Do the gas consumers of this city remember the wants of five years ago when the Gas company presented a contract to the council for furnishing us fuel gas for the period just ending?

Remember how the officials told us the supply was running so low that in a few years the supply would be exhausted? How the same officials advised us to replace our gas heating stoves with coal burners to conserve the supply for cooking purposes?

Because of these and other factors entering into the case the Gas company tearfully asked for a raise in rates. Well, we were tender-hearted and sorry for the needy Gas company, fell for the arguments and let them have their asked-for raise in rates.

These rates were so arranged that the small, uninfluential consumer would bear the brunt of the burden.

Within a year after the contract went into effect we were shown some new styles in gas burning furnaces and urged to replace our coal furnaces with gas burners. There was plenty of gas, then. Not a whisper of how short the gas supply was supposed to have been less than a year before.

Now we are informed that the company wishes to expand and improve its property and we are asked to contribute in increased rates to that end. In order that new customers may get service must we pay for such extensions?

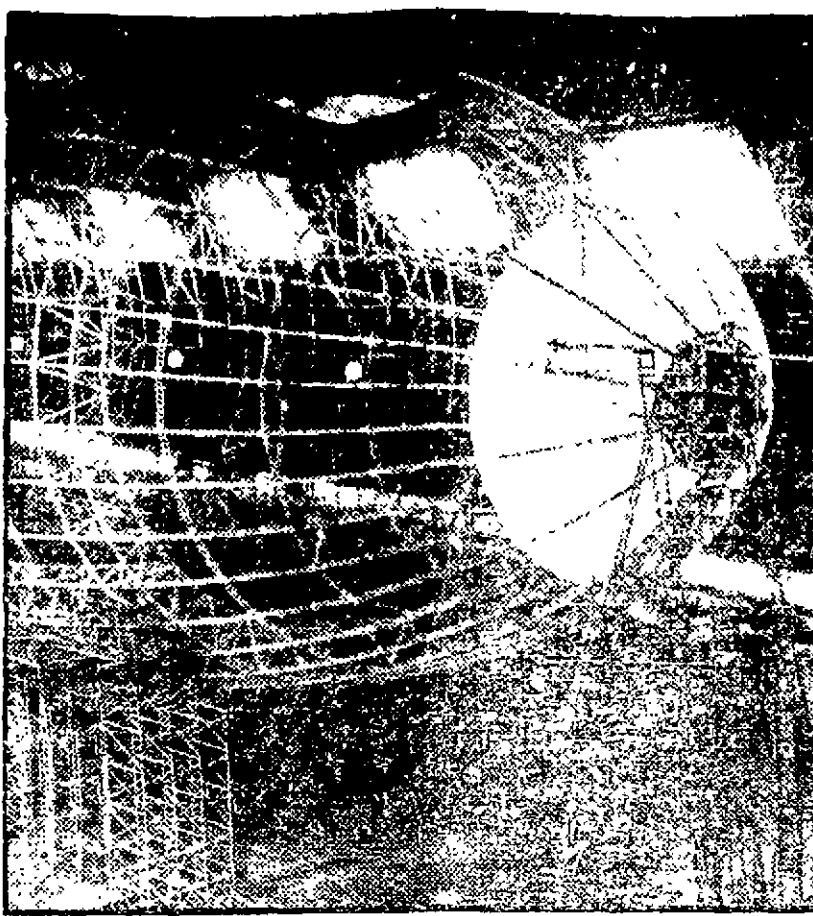

The winter just passing has been without any storms and no zero weather, but the gas bills have been larger than in most of the sub-zero winters of the past. Why are they so? Is it possible that something more than natural gas is coming through the mains? We seek information.

The city council has the authority to make the ordinance fixing the rates for the ensuing term of years, whatever that term may be. One of Ben Franklin's numerous proverbs would be very appropriate at this time for their consideration. It is: "If a man fool thee once, shame on him. If he fool thee twice, shame on thee."

Clothing New Air Monster

AKRON, O.— The "Akron", containing aluminum pigment, to give the ship a silver color and to absorb the heat and expand the helium gas inside. Doping, the engineers say, immeasurably adds to the strength of the fabric, originally woven to withstand 60 pounds

As the duralumin skeleton of the world's largest lighter-than-air craft neared completion—only the cone-shaped tail and four control surfaces remain to be fitted into position—workers began slipping the first section of the outer cover, over the nose of the ship.

More than 35,000 square yards of heavy cotton fabric, seven acres in all, will be utilized to cover the newest Titanic of the air. An estimate of the vast amount of material necessary to cover the ship is obtained through the weight of the material. The fabric weighs 2.8 ounces a square yard, a total poundage of more than three tons.

Eighty-five foot ladders and monster platforms suspended in midair from the roof of the 1200-foot airship dock of the Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation builders of the ship, are being used by the trained crews of workers employed in putting on the "Akron's" clothing.

Completion of the huge ship is scheduled for early summer, at which time the "Akron" will be launched officially, with gala ceremonies. Akronites anxiously await that day, when the newest masterpiece in aircraft construction takes to the air on her maiden flight.

Three weeks of intensive "schooling" for the trained crew of thirty workmen now engaged in placing the cover on the "Akron", preceded the start of the actual work. Supervised by Dr. Karl A. Stein, vice-president and chief engineer of the Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation, the workers constructed small sections of the "metal framework" in the "schoolroom" and laced the heavy cotton fabric on these replicas.

Four coats of dope are to be placed over the covering—the first two to shrink the fabric and make it waterproof, and the last two,

pressure per square inch.

"It might seem easier to dope the fabric before putting it in place," Dr. Huertle commented. "However, doping the cover after it is actually in place shrinks the fabric to the best degree of tightness, insuring a perfectly smooth outer surface." Dr. Huertle has supervised the covering of more than 50 airships, including the later war-time German zeppelins.

Intense interest has been shown during the construction of the gigantic ship by residents of Akron and outsiders. On some days 35,000 persons have visited the plant and the average number increases daily. Delegations of students at Akron engineering schools visit the plant regularly to study the metal construction.

2 OHIO BANKS QUIT BUSINESS

COLUMBUS, O.—Two Ohio banks today were taken over by the State Department of Banks. They are the Peoples' Commercial Bank of Bellefontaine, and the Roseville State Bank at Roseville. Both actions were taken at the request of the board of directors of the two institutions.

Frozen loans and unfavorable rumors circulated regarding the solvency of the Bellefontaine bank and threatened heavy withdrawals were the causes of the action of the directors there, it was said. The bank reported $125,000 capital stock. Its total resources were reported at $1,613,278.

The Roseville bank with a capital stock of $25,000 was closed, according to the banking department, because its directors reported steady heavy withdrawals. The institution, which had total resources of $405,036 on Dec. 31, 1930, was organized Nov. 10, 1919.

Charles W. Miller, liquidating agent of the department of banks, was placed in charge of the Bellefontaine institution of which E. W. Patterson is president, and B. F. Skidmore is cashier. D. J. Schurr was placed in charge of the Roseville bank. Elmer Sagie is president of the Roseville institution and W. M. Parsons is cashier.

SCHOONER LOST ITS PROPELLER

SAN FRANCISCO—The schooner McCormick line schooner, Munleon, with a crew of 10 aboard, is expected to be taken to tow this morning. The ship with her propeller gone has been drifting helplessly off the coast of Eureka for two days.

When it appeared as if the Munleon would drift onto the rocks yesterday, the master of the vessel sent out an S. O. S., which soon brought three ships to her side.

When heavy seas subsided it was decided the Munleon would await the arrival of another McCormick line ship, the Hamilton McCormick, to be taken in tow.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and seals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

WOMAN VICTIM OF MAN FIEND

TAPPAHANNOCK, Va. — Mrs. Vance Smith who came here from Charlotte, N. C. to forget her marital troubles and won the respect of the townfolks, met a most horrible death at the hands of a fiend and opened to investigation the past life she had so zealously guarded.

Public inquiry was necessary as the killer left nothing on the body, he thought that would lead to its identification. It was noted when he dragged it, face downward, 40 yards into some undergrowth off the Washington-Richmond highway near Bowling Green, Wednesday night.

The vital organs in the stomach were removed, the eyes gouged out and some bridge work in the mouth pulled out. All these the killer has concealed somewhere, perhaps burned them or thrown them into some river near the spot he selected to commit his butchery.

Vultures were hovering near the woods Saturday when a negro, hunting for his dog, found the body. But the authorities do not believe the huge birds had started to dissect the corpse.

Stripped of every particle of clothing, jewelry or identification mark the body was left to be devoured by the birds with a tell-tale mark the fiend overlooked.

There was a burn on the leg and a distinct bruise on the knee. Younger Lumpkin saw the marks and identified the corpse as that of Miss Cleo Freeman who had been living in the rooming house here in which he lives. He remembered the girl suffered the injury when she fell against a stove a short time ago.

Lumpkin decided to view the body when Miss Freeman had failed to return from a motor ride with a man Wednesday.

Her murder has aroused the countryfolk. They said she led a quiet and respectable life and had confided to one of them that she was separated from her husband in Charlotte. Rumors were also current that she has four children who were living with their father.

Several men in the neighborhood were friendly with Mrs. Smith but last week a stranger visited her and she identified him as a man she knew before her marriage. He engaged another room and spent one night at the house. During his stay, occupants of the house said, the two talked little but continued their conversation by writing notes. This was the man who took her off in his automobile and off on her terrible death.

The authorities attempted to learn today what secret Mrs. Smith held, or what act she committed which would have prompted her caller to kill her and obliterate her features against any possible chance of identification.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor of the Herald:

Do the gas consumers of this city remember the wants of five years ago when the Gas company presented a contract to the council for furnishing us fuel gas for the period just ending?

Remember how the officials told us the supply was running so low that in a few years the supply would be exhausted? How the same officials advised us to replace our gas heating stoves with coal burners to conserve the supply for cooking purposes?

Because of these and other factors entering into the case the Gas company tearfully asked for a raise in rates. Well, we were tender-hearted and sorry for the needy Gas company, fell for the arguments and let them have their asked-for raise in rates.

These rates were so arranged that the small, uninfrequent consumer would bear the brunt of the burden.

Within a year after the contract went into effect we were shown some new styles in gas burning furnaces and urged to replace our coal furnaces with gas burners. There was plenty of gas, then. Not a whisper of how short the gas supply was supposed to have been less than a year before.

Now we are informed that the company wishes to expand and improve its property and we are asked to contribute in increased rates to that end. In order that new customers may get service must we pay for such extensions?

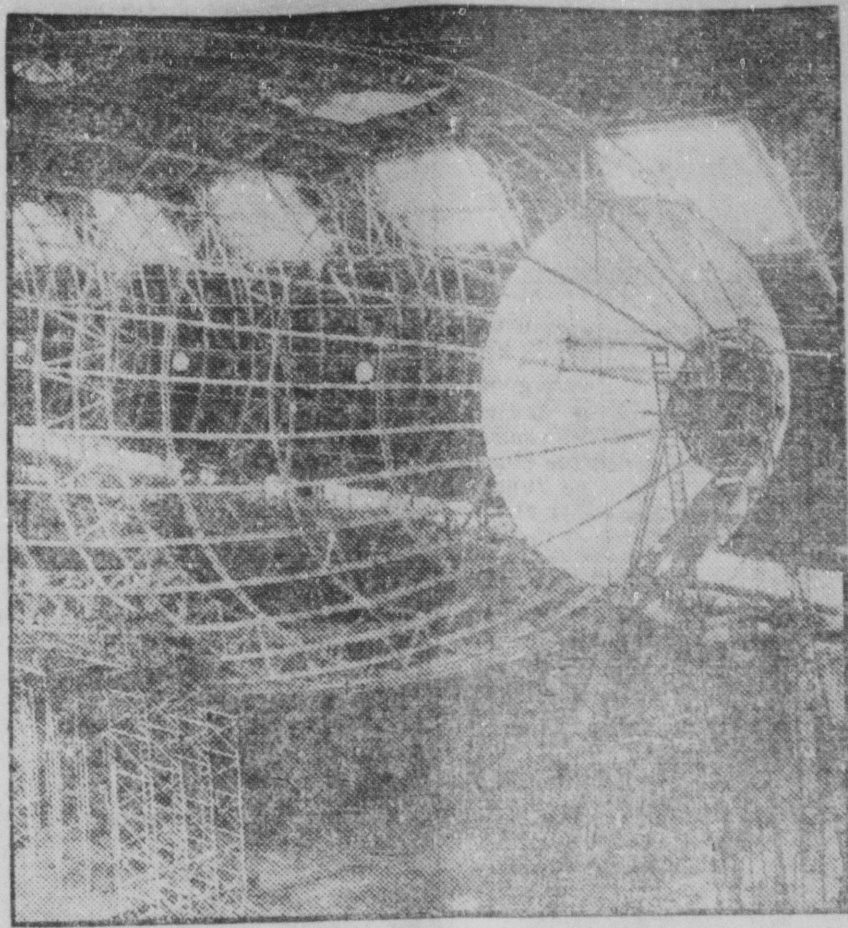

The winter just passing has been without any storms and no zero weather, but the gas bills have been larger than in most of the sub-zero winters of the past. Why are they so? Is it possible that something more than natural gas is coming through the mains? We seek information.

The city council has the authority to make the ordinance fixing the rates for the ensuing term of years, whatever that term may be. One of Ben Franklin's numerous proverbs would be very appropriate at this time for their consideration. It is: "If a man fool thee once, shame on him. If he fool thee twice, shame on thee."

Clothing New Air Monster

AKRON, O.— The "Akron", containing aluminum pigment, to give the ship a silver color and to absorb the heat and expand the helium gas inside. Doping, the engineers say, immeasurably adds to the strength of the fabric, originally woven to withstand 60 pounds pressure per square inch.

"It might seem easier to dope the fabric before putting it in place," Dr. Huertle commented. "However, doping the cover after it is actually in place shrinks the fabric to the best degree of tautness, insuring a perfectly smooth outer surface." Dr. Huertle has supervised the covering of more than 50 airships, including the later war-time German zeppelins.

Intense interest has been shown during the construction of the gigantic ship by residents of Akron and outsiders. On some days 35,000 persons have visited the plant and the average number increases daily. Delegations of students at Akron engineering schools visit the plant regularly to study the metal construction.

2 OHIO BANKS QUIT BUSINESS

COLUMBUS, O.—Two Ohio banks today were taken over by the State Department of Banks. They are the Peoples' Commercial Bank of Bellefontaine, and the Roseville State Bank at Roseville. Both actions were taken at the request of the board of directors of the two institutions.

Frozen loans and unfavorable rumors circulated regarding the solvency of the Bellefontaine bank and threatened heavy withdrawals were the causes of the action of the directors there, it was said. The bank reported $125,000 capital stock. Its total resources were reported at $1,513,376.

The Roseville bank with a capital stock of $25,000 was closed, according to the banking department, because its directors reported steady heavy withdrawals. The institution, which had total resources of $403,036 on Dec. 31, 1930, was organized Nov. 10, 1919.

Charles W. Miller, liquidating agent of the department of banks, was placed in charge of the Bellefontaine institution, of which E. W. Patterson is president, and B. F. Skidmore is cashier. D. J. Schurr was placed in charge of the Roseville bank. Elmer Sagie is president of the Roseville institution and W. M. Parsons is cashier.

SCHOONER LOSES ITS PROPELLOR

SAN FRANCISCO—The disabled McCormick line schooner Munleon, with a crew of 31 aboard, is expected to be taken in tow this morning. The ship with her propeller gone has been drifting helplessly off the coast at Eureka for two days.

When it appeared as if the Munleon would drift onto the rocks yesterday, the master of the vessel sent out an S. O. S., which soon brought three ships to her side.

When heavy seas subsided it was decided the Munleon would await the arrival of another McCormick line ship, the Hamilton McCormick, to be taken in tow.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and seals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

EIGHT NEW KINGS CROWNED IN A. A. U. INDOOR CARNIVAL

By TED SMITH
NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Discarded world's records, champions who have outlived their day, and reputations that once were proud lay today in a small, neat heap outside Madison Square Garden.

In the 14 championship events at the National A. A. U. indoor track games last night, eight new kings of the spikes were crowned, and only six could muster sufficient talent to retain their laurels.

As for the world records, Percy Beard of Auburn, Ala., and the University of Pennsylvania medley relay team took care of those. Beard hopped and flew to a new mark of .085 seconds to win the 70-yard high hurdles, and dethroned Lee Sementan of the University of Illinois, last year's title-holder.

Pennsylvania's relay team, composed chiefly of a modest miler by the name of C. A. Coan, who incidentally defeated Ray Conger in 4:13 a few days ago to write his name among the great of trackdom, won its event in 7:35 2-5 to displace a mark of 7:35 2-5 by the Illinois Athletic club in 1923. Coan was clocked in 4:17 for his mile, and a great mile it was. Russell Shapman of Bates, by a dextrous half-mile, had given his anchor man, Wallace Viles, a 30-yard lead on Coan. But Coan cut it all down and sprinted him home with Viles far behind.

Others on the Pennsylvania team who aided Coan in his effort were J. Steele, James Healey, and H. A. Jones.

Ray Conger, with that inevitable last lap "kick" of his, regained his title in the 1,000 yard run, held last year by Dr. Paul Martin of Switzerland. Conger bested George Bullwinkle, of the College of the city of New York, and left, among others, Paul Keller, of France in his wake.

BASEBALL FANS TO WATCH YANKEE AND CUB OUTFITS

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—They say it is too early to venture a choice as to what ball clubs will win the National and American League pennants this year but even before Lent started we could put our finger on a couple of high class losers.

There isn't a bat boy in the country who will agree with us but we think it has already started to shape up that the New York Yankees and the Chicago Cubs will be the big upsets, or more properly written, the big downfalls, this season.

Quite a few folks have been bending their ears to the ground to become firmly convinced that the Cubs will win the National League honors and here in New York, where they believe everything from the Statue of Liberty to a shoestring in Harlem is the best in all the world, one hears the Yanks are again about due to glorify the metropolis. But if our chances of staying out of Sing Sing depended on what the Cubs and Yanks are doing at the end of September we would start in right now getting accustomed to parking on a dime.

Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yankees, has a pretty nice ball club except for the fact he needs an outfielder, a second baseman and someone who can pitch. If Sam Byrd continues to bite his lip and refuses to quit sulking, McCarthy might buy an outfielder to take the place of some of the misfits who wore down the left garden grass last year.

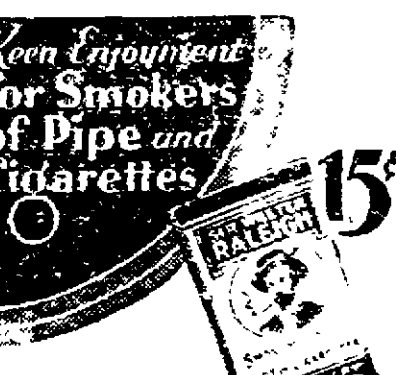

He also has a fine chance to make or break his infield by deciding whether Lazzeri, Lyn or Chapman will play second. But it looks like his pitching problem will still be as apparent as a radio announcer when next spring rolls around.

SHOW IMITATIONS LIVES ARE SHORT

A recent investigation of the soft drink business revealed that there have been 3250 different kinds of soft drinks registered by name in the United States since 1900. Many more have been put on the market unregistered. Hundreds of them were imitations of Coca-Cola. The average person would have trouble remembering the names of a dozen of them.

"Coca-Cola has lived and gained strength in popularity since 1886," says Frank A. Lynch of the Circleville Coca-Cola Bottling Works because it is so refreshing. It is a drink of natural flavors going things from nine climes into a single bottle. Its special comes from carbonation. Each ingredient is scientifically tested. Twenty-one scientific tests are made in the manufacture.

"There is the bottle every step of process, right up to the time you drink it," says Lynch. "No human hand touches it. No machine touches it. It is worked every day in our bottling plant and is as pure as water."

RISKO LOSES TO BULLDOG

Cleveland Fighter Bounced All Over Ring By Mickey Walker at Miami.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26.—Mickey Walker's bid for recognition in the heavyweight ranks may be no more seriously rated today but his customers who banked Johnson Square Garden stadium last night were willing to grade the New Jersey "Bulldog" as the best of round performer in the ring after his second smashing ten-round victory over Johnny Risko, Cleveland.

In this judgment they agreed with twenty-four sports critics. Walker beat Risko from bell to bell and in the ninth and tenth rounds had the Cleveland baker on queer street. Walker won eight of ten rounds, Risko taking the fifth with the fourth even.

In the sixth Risko slashed Walker's left temple with a looping right but the injury only spurred the middleweight champion to better efforts.

As usual Risko put on one of his old-fashioned battles. The more Mickey belted him the faster he came in for more. Many times they stood toe to toe and exchanged heavy blows.

Mickey was the sharpshooter of the two, timing his blows and landing most of them on Risko's rubber anatomy.

Walker, who scaled 165, to 194 for Risko, was in marvelous fighting condition.

Pa. Stribling, who promoted the show, took it on the chin for approximately $5,000. The net intake was said to be $35,000. Walker fought on a 50 per cent basis guaranteeing Risko $7,500. Schmeling and Pa's son, who gave exhibitions, were guaranteed $5,000 each.

The cost of prelims, transportation for the headliners, office help, and incidentals, helped to make a total of $41,000.

REDISTRICTING IS FAVORED

COLUMBUS, O.—Hinting that redistricting of Ohio under the present political set-up is almost impossible, the state senate today asked Attorney General Gilbert Bettman to decide whether election of two additional congressmen-at-large would be legal.

The inquiry was put to Bettman by the senate committee on elections and federal relations after receipt of a protest of delaying redistricting from Mayo Fesler, Cleveland, head of the Citizens League which is backing the Marshall redistricting plan.

If the attorney general rules election of two new congressmen chosen at-large is constitutional the committee probably will recommend that gerrymandering be postponed until governor and legislature are of the same politics.

Any plan favorable to Republicans would likely be vetoed by Governor White and any proposal acceptable to the governor probably could not pass the legislature, committee members pointed out.

Hearing that such a delay is anticipated, and eager to see the Marshall plan enacted, Fesler is said to have declared any such postponement is unconstitutional.

Senator Charles J. Anderson (R) of Shelby, chairman of a subcommittee on redistricting, has received frequent suggestions that election at-large be permitted. Another meeting of the committee to await Bettman's reply was to be held today.

Two bills were passed by the senate at its session yesterday. A bill by Senator Robert A. Taft (R) of Cincinnati allows counties to combine various library systems and fixes one-mill maximum levy for their support. A measure by Senator James E. Minofrock (R) of Canal Winchester increases membership on the Capital university board of trustees to 16.

DAVEY REFUSES WHITE'S OFFER

COLUMBUS, O. — Martin L. Davey, of Kent, O., one-time gubernatorial candidate and recently appointed to membership on the state conservation council, has refused to attend a meeting of the council here tomorrow and has declined to accept his appointment as a member. It was authoritatively learned by International News Service today.

Reasons for the refusal of Davey, who is prominently known in state conservation circles, were a mystery to state officials, it was understood.

Word of his refusal to accept the appointment to the conservation council, it was reliably learned, was contained in a telegraphic dispatch today to John W. Thompson, state conservation commissioner.

Plans announced for $5,000,000 thread mill at Columbus to provide employment for 2,000.

BASEBALL FANS TO WATCH YANKEE AND CUB OUTFITS

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—They say it is too early to venture a choice as to what ball clubs will win the National and American League pennants this year but even before Lent started we could put our finger on a couple of high class losers.

There isn't a bat boy in the country who will agree with us but we think it has already started to shape up that the New York Yankees and the Chicago Cubs will be the big upsets, or more properly written, the big down-falls, this season.

Quite a few folks have been bending their ears to the ground to become firmly convinced that the Cubs will win the National League honors and here in New York, where they believe everything from the Statue of Liberty to a shoestring in Harlem is the best in all the world, one hears the Yanks are again about due to glorify the metropolis. But if our chances of staying out of Sing Sing depended on what the Cubs and Yanks are doing at the end of September we would start in right now getting accustomed to parking on a dime.

Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yankees, has a pretty nice ball club except for the fact he needs an outfielder, a second baseman and someone who can pitch. If Sam Byrd continues to bite his lip and refuses to quit sulking, McCarthy might buy an outfielder to take the place of some of the misfits who wore down the left garden grass last year.

He also has a fine chance to make or break his infield by deciding whether Lazzeri, Lyn or Chapman will play second. But it looks like his pitching problem will still be as apparent as a radio announcer when next spring rolls around.

SHOW IMITATIONS LIVES ARE SHORT

A recent investigation of the soft drink business revealed that there have been 3,250 different kinds of soft drinks registered by name in the United States since 1900. Many more have been put on the market unregistered. Hundreds of them were imitations of Coca-Cola. The average person would have trouble remembering the names of a dozen of them.

"Coca-Cola has lived and gained steadily in popularity since 1886," says Frank A. Lynch of the Circleville Coca-Cola Bottling Works because it is so refreshing. It is a pure drink of natural flavors—good things from nine climes poured into a single bottle. Its sparkle comes from carbonation. Each ingredient is scientifically tested. Twenty-one separate tests are made in the manufacture.

"Then in the bottling, every step of process, right up to the time you drink, is accomplished with machine-like accuracy. No human hand touches the beverage. Many persons have marveled at the mechanical miracles which are worked every day at our bottling plant and visitors are always welcomed."

RISKO LOSES TO BULLDOG

Cleveland Fighter Bounced All Over Ring By Mickey Walker at Miami.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26.—Mickey Walker's bid for recognition in the heavyweight ranks may be no more seriously rated today but 3,000 customers who banked Madison Square Garden stadium last night were willing to grade the New Jersey "Bulldog" as the best all round performer in the ring after his second smashing ten-round victory over Johnny Risko, Cleveland.

In this judgment they agreed with twenty-four sports critics. Walker beat Risko from bell to bell and in the ninth and tenth rounds had the Cleveland baker on queer street. Walker won eight of ten rounds, Risko taking the fifth with the fourth even.

In the sixth Risko slashed Walker's left temple with a looping right but the injury only spurred the middleweight champion to better efforts.

As usual Risko put on one of his old-fashioned battles. The more Mickey belted him the faster he came in for more. Many times they stood toe to toe and exchanged heavy blows.

Mickey was the sharpshooter of the two, timing his blows and landing most of them on Risko's rubber anatomy.

Walker, who scaled 165, to 194 for Risko, was in marvelous fighting condition.

Pa. Stribling, who promoted the show, took it on the chin for approximately $5,000. The net intake was said to be $35,000. Walker fought on a 50 per cent basis guaranteeing Risko $7,500. Schmeling and Pa's son, who gave exhibitions, were guaranteed $5,000 each.

The cost of prelims, transportation for the headliners, office help, and incidentals, helped to make a total of $41,000.

REDISTRICTING IS FAVORED

COLUMBUS, O.—Hinting that redistricting of Ohio under the present political set-up is almost impossible, the state senate today asked Attorney General Gilbert Bettman to decide whether election of two additional congressmen-at-large would be legal.

The inquiry was put to Bettman by the senate committee on elections and federal relations after receipt of a protest of delaying redistricting from Mayo Fesler, Cleveland, head of the Citizens' League which is backing the Marshall redistricting plan.

If the attorney general rules election of two new congressmen chosen at-large is constitutional the committee probably will recommend that gerrymandering be postponed until governor and legislature are of the same politics.

Any plan favorable to Republicans would likely be vetoed by Governor White and any proposal acceptable to the governor probably could not pass the legislature, committee members pointed out.

Hearing that such a delay is anticipated, and eager to see the Marshall plan enacted, Fesler is said to have declared any such postponement is unconstitutional.

Senator Charles J. Anderson (R) of Shelby, chairman of a sub-committee on redistricting, has received frequent suggestions that election at-large be permitted. Another meeting of the committee to await Bettman's reply was to be held today.

Two bills were passed by the senate at its session yesterday. A bill by Senator Robert A. Taft (R) of Cincinnati allows counties to combine various library systems and fixes one-mill maximum tax levy for their support. A measure by Senator James E. Finebrock (R) of Canal Winchester increases membership on the Capital University board of trustees to 15.

DAVEY REFUSES WHITE'S OFFER

COLUMBUS, O.—Martin L. Davey, of Kent, O., one-time gubernatorial candidate and recently appointed to membership on the state conservation council, has refused to attend a meeting of the council here tomorrow and has declined to accept his appointment as a member, it was authoritatively learned by International News Service today.

Reasons for the action of Davey, who is prominently known in state conservation circles, were a mystery to state officials, it was understood.

Word of his refusal to accept the appointment to the conservation council, it was reliably learned, was contained in a telegraphic dispatch today to John W. Thompson, state conservation commissioner.

Plans announced for $5,000,000 thread mill at Columbus to provide employment for 2,000.

German Opera In Columbus On March 5 and March 6

Max Von Schilling conductor

Margarethe Baumer, soprano

The coming of the German Grand Opera Company to Columbus Auditorium on Thursday, March 5th, and Friday March 6th, in "The Flying Dutchman" and "Walkure", will bring Columbus one of the most distinguished lyric organizations that has crossed the Atlantic to submit its artistic wares.

Columbus will be the twenty-third city visited in the tour, which opened in Washington, Jan. 5, and which has carried the company to the principal cities of the Pacific Coast. The organization will come in its own special train of 13 cars, and is enroute to New York. A season will be given there, after which the songbirds sail for home on March 15th.

Seven baggage cars are used to transport the elaborate physical equipment and paraphernalia necessary for the productions. The company has its technical director Kurt Albrecht, who was brought to America half a dozen years ago to stage Dr. Max Reinhardt's spectacle, "The Miracle."

The company is headed by Mme. Johanna Galski, Marie von Esen, Margarethe Baumer, Carl Haitmann, Carl Braun, Hans Hey, Lorenz Lierot, Allen Hinckley, Richard Gross, Eric Wildhagen, Isolde von Bernhard and many others, including a personnel of 150 in its entirety.

The orchestra, numbering 54, carefully selected musicians, is described as a rare treat in itself. This fine body is under the direction of Dr. Max von Schilling, distinguished composer-conductor, who ranks throughout Europe as an outstanding authority on Wagnerian music. One of Dr. von Schilling's own operas, "Mona Lisa", was introduced to America at the Metropolitan opera several seasons ago, and many of his compositions are embraced in the repertoire of the leading symphony orchestra. Yet this constitutes the famous musicians first personal activity in America.

Universities and colleges throughout a wide zone have evidenced active interest in the organization for special arrangements have been made whereby students and teachers may obtain seats at a considerable reduction. Reservations may be sent to the temporary box office at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel.

He left Marietta Feb. 14, and after leaving Washington C. H., Thursday morning, continued to Cincinnati, and thence southward.

PROSPERITY CHECKS ARE STILL MOVING

The Prosperity checks recently started by the Third National Bank are still doing their duty and making a $5 sale or paying a $5 account whenever changing hands. To date none of these checks have passed through enough hands to be presented to the bank for payment. With the number of checks being circulated and at the end of the Prosperity Campaign during March, they will have resulted in business amounting to nearly $4,000.

Do not hesitate to accept one of these checks for they are good for their face value, of $5 but to make the Campaign successful, your cooperation is needed by again spending the check received so that it will complete its journey and have the maximum number of endorsements. During the past week several new checks have been started by persons interested in this Campaign.

German Opera In Columbus On March 5 and March 6

Max Von Schilling conductor

Margarethe Baumer, soprano

The coming of the German Grand Opera Company to Columbus Auditorium on Thursday, March 5th, and Friday March 6th, in "The Flying Dutchman" and "Walkure", will bring Columbus one of the most distinguished lyric organizations that has crossed the Atlantic to submit its artistic wares.

Columbus will be the twenty-third city visited in the tour, which opened in Washington, Jan. 5, and which has carried the company to the principal cities of the Pacific Coast. The organization will come in its own special train of 13 cars, and is enroute to New York. A season will be given there, after which the songbirds sail for home on March 15th.

Seven baggage cars are used to transport the elaborate physical equipment and paraphernalia necessary for the productions. The company has its technical director Kurt Albrecht, who was brought to America half a dozen years ago to stage Dr. Max Reinhardt's spectacle, "The Miracle."

The company is headed by Mme. Johanna Galski, Marie von Essen, Margarethe Baumer, Carl Hartmann, Carl Braun, Hans Hey, Lorenz Lirot, Allen Hinckley, Richard Gross, Eric Wildhagen, Isolde von Bernhard and many others, including a personnel of 150 in its entirety.

The orchestra, numbering 54, carefully selected musicians, is described as a rare treat in itself. This fine body is under the direction of Dr. Max von Schillings, distinguished composer-conductor, who ranks throughout Europe as an outstanding authority on Wagnerian music. One of Dr. von Schilling's own operas, "Mona Lisa", was introduced to America at the Metropolitan opera several seasons ago, and many of his compositions are embraced in the repertoire of the leading symphony orchestra. Yet this constitutes the famous musicians first personal activity in America.

Universities and colleges throughout a wide zone have evidenced active interest in the organization for special arrangements have been made whereby students and teachers may obtain seats at a considerable reduction. Reservations may be sent to the temporary box office at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel.

PROSPERITY CHECKS ARE STILL MOVING

The Prosperity checks recently started by the Third National Bank are still doing their duty and making a $5 sale or paying a $5 account whenever changing hands. To date none of these checks have passed through enough hands to be presented to the bank for payment. With the number of checks being circulated and at the end of the Prosperity Campaign during March, they will have resulted in business amounting to nearly $4,000.

Do not hesitate to accept one of these checks for they are good for their face value, of $5 but to make the Campaign successful, your cooperation is needed by again spending the check received so that it will complete its journey and have the maximum number of endorsements. During the past week several new checks have been started by persons interested in this Campaign.

SMALL IS LIKELIHOOD OF LAWS CHANGING HIGHWAY METHODS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 26.—With state legislatures well under way in their local deliberations there now appears to be small likelihood of wasteful changes in highway laws, particularly in the matter of diverting state funds to local roads with little or no supervision by state highway department.

"In this connection," according to a bulletin issued by the American Association of State Highway Officials, "it is worthy of note that at the recent annual meeting of the American Road Builders' Association, held in St. Louis, the new principles of highway administration and finance, as adopted by the American Association of State Highway Officials, were approved by the road builders' association. By a very clear and specific resolution, state legislatures were requested to in no way decrease state funds, remove from state authority present incomes, or adversely change the sources of revenue for state road building simply because the Federal government has increased its fund for that purpose.

"The present state revenues for highways, the resolution concluded, are all needed to permit the fullest cooperation with the Federal government in this great task. These new principles require that all road financing and improvement shall be carried on under a preconceived plan and budget, involving the interests of all classes of highways.

"Also by resolution, the American Road Builders' Association has commended the platform announced by state highway officials as a guide in perfecting state legislation covering all phases of highway administration and finance. It was declared also that motor funds should be used for road purposes only.

"Those who urge the use of state highway funds on local roads that are now beyond the reach of state counsel and technical supervision," the bulletin proceeded, "have evidently forgotten the fact that state constitutions, or at least many of them, once prohibited the issuance of bonds for use in the improvement of so perishable a thing as an earth road, and there is no disputing the fact that until the local road is reached in accordance with the present policy of building main routes first, it must develop more or less along impermanent or preliminary lines, hence the need for extreme caution in the use of state funds to avoid waste.

"With all forces in road development working in harmony, and with the added financial support which the Federal government has given, the road construction season of 1931 promises to achieve greater results than in any previous year.

"And not the least of all," the bulletin concludes, "will be the part which the road building will play in providing more employment for labor, in addition to economic transportation for the farmer."

AGAIN PLAN RADIO TESTS

Atwater Kent Foundation Offers Awards of $25,000 to Amateur Singers.

A fifth national radio audition, offering cash awards of $25,000 to the young amateur singers of the United States, was announced today by the Atwater Kent Foundation of Philadelphia. Radio listeners and a board of judges will jointly select the candidates for these awards.

"I believe we are building for the future in searching out talented young singers for that great medium of culture and entertainment—Radio," said A. Atwater Kent, president of the Foundation bearing his name, in making the announcement of the 1931 audition. "The discovery of one of those rare voices, of which each generation produces a few, seems to me an event of profound national importance. Even when such a voice could give pleasure to only a few thousand people it was a national treasure. Now that millions may enjoy it through the medium of radio, such a voice becomes priceless.

"So, just as a good voice is a divine gift, radio offers opportunity to share that gift with the greatest number. In previous auditions our records show contestants have come back the second, third and even a fourth time after losing out in a first attempt. This should be encouraging to all who have taken part in earlier contests."

Accepted by ambitious singers as well as music workers throughout the country as the outstanding American vocal contest, the audition in this, its fifth year, will follow substantially the lines of the previous competitions, which have been held annually since 1927. It is open to amateurs—young men and young women alike—between the ages of 18 and 25.

The awards will be:

Winners of first place (one boy and one girl), $5,000 each and two years' tuition in an American conservatory, or its equivalent.

Winners of second place, $3,000 each and one year's tuition.

Winners of third place, $2,000 each and one year's tuition.

Winners of fourth place, $1,500 each and one year's tuition.

Winners of fifth place, $1,000 each and one year's tuition.

Conducted on the principle of elimination, the fifth National Radio Audition, like its predecessors, will progress through local, state and geographical district stages to national finals. The district, or semi-final auditions, of which there will be five, representing as many geographical divisions into which the country as a whole will be divided, will each qualify one boy and one girl (ten in all) who will sing in grand finals in New York over a coast to coast network of radio stations.

National audition headquarters have been established in the Albee Building, Washington, D. C., and the work of organizing and carrying out the contest will be conducted each and one year's tuition.

INCREASED MOTOR TRUCK FEE BILL TO BE RUSHED BY POLEN

COLUMBUS, O.—Intention of seeking an early hearing before the house taxation committee on his bill, providing for increased fees from operators of motor trucks, was announced today by Rep. Robert Polen (D) of Chillicothe.

This measure, which was introduced February 17, the final day for the introduction of bills, was given second reading and referred to committee Monday night. Polen said he will try to induce the committee to take up consideration of the bill within a week.

Requirement that on trucks weighing more than five tons each, and operating over a regular route, an annual tax of $300 shall be collected by the state is contained in the bill. The measure, also provides for annual tax of $200 on trucks weighing between 3 1-2 tons and 5 tons which are operated over irregular routes, and for a tax of $300 a year on trucks weighing more than 5 tons, operated over irregular routes.

The present law places a $200 annual tax on trucks, weighing in excess of 3 1-2 tons, operating over regular routes. And fixes the yearly tax on trucks, weighing more than 3 1-2 tons, operating over irregular routes, at $150.

A yearly tax of $100 is levied, in the Polen bill, upon each trailer used by a motor transportation company. The present law decrees that the tax to be paid on each such trailer shall equal 20 per cent of that levied upon the vehicle by which it is drawn.

"I introduced this bill because I feel that, in view of the increased business done by trucking concerns in recent years and because of the heavy damage done to the highways over which these heavy

CONDITION OF NAVY RAPPED

WASHINGTON.—Charging "the navy is being murdered by its own countrymen," Rep. Britten (R) of Illinois, chairman of the house committee on naval affairs, today said it was inadequate and undervalued as compared with those of other world powers.

"I am deeply disappointed that the modest naval construction program of one flying-deck cruiser, one air-craft carrier and four submarines will not become a law during this session of congress," Britten said.

He asserted this government appeared "too niggardly to maintain a navy that is commensurate with its position in the world" and that "congress is being dominated by Socialists and Bolshevists, Communists and pacifists of butterfly ideals."

Britten said the United States would be the only country attending the 1935 naval limitations conference with a navy far below the London treaty requirements. "We will lag far behind like a pauper state apologizing for our second class navy," he said.

Asserting England and Japan would be able to dictate further reductions in this country's naval strength, he hit the small naval air force. He said:

"American aviation predominance will then receive the axe which has been so long hovering over our head."

the Washington and London treaties."
